

Press Release

Award Ceremony of the Online Editathon Wiki Loves EU

Inter Alia, GLAM Hack and Wikimedia Community User Group Greece, in co-operation with Goethe-Institut Athen, co-organise the award ceremony for the winners of the online editathon Wiki Loves EU (1-9 May 2019).

The award ceremony will take place on Wednesday 22 May 2019 (time: 19:00-21:00) at the Library of Goethe-Institut Athen.

Wiki Loves EU is a competition that aims at the improvement and enrichment of Wikipedia articles (in Greek), related to the history and the institutions of the European Union. The competition was organised -for the very first time- this year in Greece, in the context of Europe Day (May 9).

The first winner will travel to Bucharest (Romania) between September-October 2019, and participate in the final event of the project "A new narrative for Europe: Bringing more union into the European Union", which is co-funded by the Europe for Citizens Programme of the European Union.* The other two winners will receive two gift cards of €150 and €100 respectively.

Info:

Award Ceremony of the Online Editathon Wiki Loves EU

 May 22, 2019 | 19:00-21:00

 Library of Goethe-Institut Athen, 14-16 Omirou Str., 106 72, Athens, Greece

 Free entrance

 Greek

 <https://el.wikipedia.org/wiki/>

Βικιπαίδεια:Απονομή Βραβείων για τον Ψηφιακό Διαγωνισμό Wiki Loves EU (in Greek)

 <https://www.facebook.com/events/1114348698771147/>

 #WikiLovesEU #EuropeDay

 Logo of Wiki Loves EU editathon designed by Boroka Balint, CC BY-SA 4.0.

 Poster of the award ceremony designed by GLAMHacker, CC BY-SA 4.0.

* The transportation and accommodation costs of the trip will be covered by Inter Alia. In case the winner is under 18 years old, the presence of an accompanying person is required. However, Inter Alia cannot cover her/his transportation and accommodation costs.

